

SAVE OUR SCHOOL LIBRARIES

The Quiet Crisis: CCSD has been experiencing a decrease in the number of school libraries or certified teacher-librarians who are being replaced by non-certified individuals or staff members.

School libraries are ACTIVE learning spaces for individuals and COLLABORATIVE groups incorporating PRINT & DIGITAL access to better equip students for learning and life.

WHAT ARE THEY SAYING?

"Many assume that because young people are fluent in social media they are equally savvy about what they found there."

*In recent news, the following has been said:
"Students have 'dismaying' inability to tell fake news from real." - NPR.11 Dec 2016.*

WHAT CAN YOU DO?

Do your research! Be certain that your school or the school in your area employs a certified teacher-librarian.

Meet your school's teacher-librarian and discover the benefits. Their value spans much greater than simply reading stories and checking out books.

HOW DO CERTIFIED TEACHER-LIBRARIANS INCREASE STUDENT ACHIEVEMENT?

- Teach all students the NV Academic Content & NV Information Literacy Standards
- Promote the love of reading through school-wide events [Teen Tech Week, NV Reading Week, National School Library Month, Poetry Jam, Reading Incentives, Storytelling, Battle of the Books and several others]
- Collaborate with teachers & administrators to design the school performance plan, contribute educational building goals and participate on school committees
- Teach students to critically navigate the internet, evaluate websites, create citations and prevent plagiarism
- Incorporate current technology tools: databases, ebooks, Google Apps, infographics, blogs and websites to equip students for the future
- Create an active library program where students feel invited, respected, free to work individually or collaboratively
- Present staff development and provide literature, technology and teaching strategies
- Help parents support active reading habits for positive and successful life skills
